TICKETS FOR JUNIOR WEEK EVENTS ON SALE

Placed for Distribution at Law, Medical Schools, As Well As at The Hatchet Office.

Hot off the press, tickets for the junior prom are selling, aye, selling on the campus, library, corridors, The Hatchet office, and in the general office itself. Equal availability at the Law School and Medical School is likewise a part of the distribution scheme. With the prospect of four hours of grand and glorious dancing to superb music at Rauscher's at this event resplendent of the year, the tickets give promise of being in big demand ere pass the four or five short weeks which span the interval of anticipation.

The reception and tea dance at the Willard, the preceding Wednesday afternoon, bids fair to light off the mammoth event, the prom, on Thursday, February 23, with a hop, skip and jump, and assure it the signal success it has enjoyed in previous years.

The Glee Club concert at the Raleigh the following Saturday night will top off the Junior Week program in nice shape. The tickets for this are one dollar each. The program will consist of a short play and a number of musical selections by the club, after which dancing will be in order.

MAKE REGULATIONS FOR USE OF LISNER CHAPEL

Reservation Must Be Made One Week in Advance; To Post List Monday.

In order that future conflicts in the use of the chapel of Lisner Hall may be avoided, Miss Anna L. Rose, Registrar, has issued the following regulations:

1. Reservation for the hall must be made one week in advance; if possible, by Monday morning a schedule of reservations for the week will be posted on the bulletin board in Lisner Hall. This will decide all cases where two organizations claim the room for the same hour.

2. No organization can make a reservation for certain days throughout the year, to the exclusion of other organizations. There is one permanent exception to this rule, the Glee Club is given the privilege of using the hall each Thursday night throughout the year.

3. If after the list is posted any organization wishes to reserve the hall for a date in that week which is free this may be done in the usual way at the Registrar's office.

The musical comedy rehearsals have been scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights for the second semester, with the distinct understanding that the hall may be reserved for parties by other organizations on these nights. However, if another room can be used, it should be borne in mind that the musical comedy people require the use of a piano and will much appreciate consideration in this regard.

VIRGINIA LEGAL CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Hon. Christopher B. Garnett addressed a large gathering from the other side of the Potomac on the functions of the State corporation commission and the Virginia tax laws last Thursday in the alumni room of the Law Department.

The following officers were elected: Ashby E. Bladen, president; Heath A. Melton, vice president; Damon C. Abel, secretary; W. T. French, treasurer. The club will meet on the first Thursday of each school month and arrangements are being made to have the leading Virginia lawyers address these monthly meetings.

TO START FEW NEW CLASSES. Beginners' courses in Spanish, French and college algebra will be started next semester, according to President Hodgkins. However, few new enrollments in second semester subjects will be accepted, as most classes are already full. This will have the effect of greatly decreasing the former midyear enrollment.

CORRECTION.

It was stated in last week's issue that the G. W. U. V. M. I. game would be played Monday, February 20, and the reception Tuesday, February 21. This should have read: The G. W. U. V. M. I. game will be played Tuesday, February 21, and the reception and tea dance will be Wednesday afternoon, February 22, at the Willard.

HATCHETTES' WINNING STREAK BROKEN BY GEORGETOWN; DOWN RANDOLPH-MACON

Both Teams Play Defensive Tactics; Daily and Hughes Hold Down Opposition's Score; Encounter C. U. Tonight; Randolph-Macon Easy for G. W.

RELATIVE ACCURACY OF BOTH TEAMS SHOWN

Hatchettes Speed Up in Second Half; Contest Witnessed by Three Thousand Fans.

Smashing defensive tactics marked the team play of both George Washington and Georgetown in the game played at the Coliseum Tuesday, January 17, in which the Hilltoppers carried off the honors, 27-14. Both quintets played a tight defensive game, evidently being afraid to take long chances.

Much praise is due to Daily and Hughes, Hatchette guards, who withstood the brunt of the attack and by their work kept the opposition's score down.

O'Connell, Georgetown's center and floor leader, tossed in the first basket after a minute of play and proved to be the leading scorer of the day, gathering in five. The officials called several fouls on the Hilltoppers at this point, giving Gosnell a chance to score three points from the foul line, putting G. W. in the lead for the first and last time in the game.

Georgetown decided that foul tactics wouldn't work with these officials, so let up a little and were more successful in caging baskets. Gosnell also lost his eye at shooting fouls, missing five tries. The Buff and Blue was unable to score from the floor in this half, the score being 14-4, with the Hilltoppers on the long end at half time.

After the intermission the Hatchettes showed a little more life, and their efforts were rewarded by three baskets in rapid-fire order from about the middle of the floor, made by Hughes, Gosnell and Bracklaw. Georgetown tightened up and made further scoring impossible. Gosnell added four points in this period from the foul line, doing better than he did in the first half. (Continued on page three.)

BATTLE C. U. TONIGHT

Tonight George Washington will meet Catholic University in the second big game of the season. The team needs the support of every Hatchette. Will you be there?

One of the big factors which helped to give Georgetown its victory last Tuesday was the loyal support of a cheering section numbering nearly 400. During the game George Washington did not give one single cheer to its team. Tonight a cheering section will be reserved at the right of the entrance at the end of the floor. Every George Washington supporter is requested to be in this place before the game begins.

G. W. CLUB ELECTS HATCHER PRESIDENT

Daily Made Vice President; New Members Received by Organization.

J. C. Hatcher was elected president of the G. W. Club at a meeting held last Sunday night. He succeeds Harry Hawley, who resigned from that position in the fall. John Daily was elected vice president of the club. Several letter men were admitted to the organization. Plans were taken up for the annual prep school basketball tournament, which will be played under the auspices of the G. W. Club. High and prep fives of the city and nearby places will try to lift the title of South Atlantic championship from Baltimore Poly, the present holders.

The next meeting of the club will be in February. Holders of either major or minor letters are invited to join the club.

ASHLAND BOYS FAIL TO SCORE FROM FLOOR

Gosnell Star of Game, Getting Five Baskets; Captain Daily Shoots Two Hoopers.

Accurate shooting, clever passing and a strong five-man defense enabled the Hatchettes, to the tune of 30-5, to down the Randolph-Macon five Friday, January 13, at the Coliseum. The visitors were unable to score from the floor, getting their five points through foul shooting.

Altrup started the scoring by dropping a two-pointer into the basket before the game was more than a minute old. This was closely followed by shots of Gosnell and Bracklaw, and from here on the issue was never in doubt. At half time the score stood 16-4.

Gosnell was easily the individual star of the contest, dropping in five baskets from the floor, two of which were long shots from the middle, as well as shooting eight fouls out of sixteen attempts. Capt. Daily ran a close second for individual honors by his guarding work and his two baskets, one being from the middle of the court. Altrup showed exceptional proficiency in shooting from the foul line when he made two out of three attempts in the latter part of the game, after Gosnell had been substituted for. Line-up: George Wash. Positions: Ashlanders, Gosnell, L. F. P., R. Garner, Bracklaw, R. F., Croxton, Altrup, C. G., D. Garner, Daily, L. G., F. J. Scott, Hughes, R. G., Clark. Substitutions: G. W. U. Hyde for Bracklaw, Goldstein for Hughes, Anaurio for Gosnell, Randolph-Macon, Roame for D. Garner, Mosley for Clark, Vaught for R. Garner, J. J. Scott for Vaught. Goals from floor—Gosnell (5), Bracklaw, Altrup, Daily (2), Hughes. Goals from foul—Gosnell (8 out of 16), Altrup (2 out of 3), D. Garner (5 out of 12), Clark (missed 2), J. J. Scott (missed 1). Referee—Metzler (Springfield). Umpire—Morgan (Cornell). Time of halves—20 minutes each.

THE GHOST APPEARS "SENSIBLE," HODGKINS

"Bang" Edition Contains Satires on Censorship and Jokes on Hootch. Ads Reflect Spirit.

Clever stories, jokes, puns, satires and designs mark the latest issue of Ghost, which is a combined censor and "hootch" number. When President Howard L. Hodgkins, who suppressed the Christmas issue, saw Ghost yesterday, he declared that "It seems to be a very sensible issue."

From cover to cover immense amount of wit and humor is to be found, even some of the advertisements being written in spirit in keeping with the rest of the magazine. The editorial page is particularly good this time, pep and punch being prevalent, starting the reader off in the right humor to "digest" the rest.

The key to this issue may be summed up in the words of one of the editorials: "The one that appeared in December showed up with a 'band' but got shown up with a 'ban,' so this one is expected to come out with a 'bang.' The 'bang' edition has been successful, but get your copy and see for yourself."

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON WINS INTERFRAT BOWLING CUP

Defeats Sigma Nu in Final Game Witnessed by Many Greeks.

Bowling! Who knows anything about bowling? Well, the season is now over and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity stands out as victor of the entire tournament. The winning of the championship title by this fraternity gives it undisputed claim to the silver loving cup for distinctive achievement in the field of bowling, according to the rules promulgated by the Interfraternity Athletic Association.

Last Thursday the final game between Sigma Nu, winner of section A, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, winner of section B, was played. The game, being the last and deciding one of the tournament, was witnessed by an unusually large number of members of all the fraternities. This ends a bowling tournament which involved a great deal of keen competition and points to the encouraging fact that this branch of athletic endeavor is working itself to prominence in University activities.

Dues are one dollar a semester, payable by February 15.

SIGMA TAU TO AWARD MEDAL FOR BEST TECHNICAL PAPER

Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity, has announced a gold medal to be awarded by the fraternity for the best paper on a technical subject. This contest is open only to sophomores and freshmen of the University, according to Arthur Lanigan, president of the Engineering Society and also a member of Sigma Tau. The action of the fraternity in making such an award to the winner of this contest is in line with its purpose of fostering and enlivening interest in engineering subjects.

RABBIT HOLE ROBBED

Once there was a burglar bold,
Who tried to rob a house;
He oped the window and crept in
As quiet as a mouse.

The night was dark and the moon cast furtive shadows over the alley. A figure, bent and hungry, shuffled along the weary cobblestones. Of a sudden he stopped, and, stopping, sniffed. An odor permeated the atmosphere and tantalized his olfactory nerves. Ham! Bacon! These odors, wispy, woozy, all mixed with the subtle, tingling scent of cheese!

The figure straightened. A moral struggle, a wrestling with temptation. Another whiff, a stronger one, and hunger conquered. The figure squirmed through the fence and crept to the window. Up went the window and in went the guy. Maddened by the odor of the cheese, he wrenched open the refrigerator door and laid violent hands on cheese and bacon and butter and ham.

Just then the night watchman rushed down the stairs and disturbed the feast, but the hungry egg had fled. He had crammed the butter and cheese in his pocket and the meat in his vest and done a Paul and Virginia down Twenty-first.

This happened Sunday night and Monday the students fed on sweets.

DEANS EXPRESS APPROVAL AND SUPPORT HONOR PLAN

Student Action Must Be Tempered With Experience, is President Hodgkins' Opinion.

With the honor constitution still in the course of preparation, the deans have variously expressed themselves as supporting this movement, believing it to be a matter of student direction with faculty supervision.

"Personal assurance of student support will preserve honesty during the examinations in my classes," said Dean Wilbur, with a smile which was a warm compliment to the students, revealing his faith in their absolute honor. "I am sorry the Student Council honor constitution is not yet finished, but there is no doubt that the faculty will have the unwavering support of all students in their endeavor to deal fairly with all."

A cooperative system is desirable," continued Dean Wilbur, "but final authority should not rest with the student body. Experience in other colleges has shown student governing bodies when uncontrolled punish minor offenses too impulsively. The problem of offenses in this line should be first attended to by a representative body of students, and their recommendations reviewed by the faculty committee appointed to handle such matters."

Dean Henning praised the students highly for their desire to maintain a clean student body themselves. He asserted that all the faculty were highly in sympathy with the movement and, after the constitution has been simplified, it would undoubtedly work as well as the systems in other universities.

"In commenting upon the honor constitution, President Hodgkins asserted that 'student action is sometimes too drastic and must be tempered by experience.' 'For instance,' he stated, 'the faculty was severely criticized last year because they refused to take action in cases of alleged cheating.' He pointed out, however, certain facts which could not be published and

WASHINGTON, D. C. JANUARY 20, 1922

Survival of the Fittest

Survival of the fittest accomplished through the process of elimination can probably be stated as one of the foremost axioms which govern human beings. From earliest dawn of civilization it has functioned and will continue to do so for countless ages to come. Not only is the principle employed in outside life as in the business world and social sphere, but right here in George Washington University. Examinations will be the means of eliminating those of us who do not demonstrate the required amount of knowledge in order that those who prove themselves fittest may receive credit for their success in contrast to our failure.

The President of the University states that because of the crowded conditions under which we are now suffering, the entrance standards for the February term will be made more rigid in order to regulate the influx of new students. This is a step in the scholastic advancement of our school, but wouldn't it also be a good plan to get rid of some of us now enrolled who are under the standard and adding very little in any way to the University and not debar persons better qualified than ourselves? While George Washington University is advancing into the front ranks in athletic and school activities, it should follow this up in raising the scholastic requirements and standards.

Although the honor system regulating the deportment of students in all branches of the University, formulated by the honor committee of the Student Council, has been held up by several of the deans on the grounds that it be simplified and made more specific in certain instances, honor codes have been adopted by the first year medical class and by the Law School Senate. These are manifestations on the part of the students of their desire to be governed by principles of honor and honesty and for the advancement of the University. In the examinations every student should realize the status of opinion for the adoption of such a system and conscientiously direct himself accordingly.

Class Teams Needed

What has become of the spirit and energy shown by the sophomore and freshman classes in their class wars earlier in the season? Why not revive this spirit and direct it into useful channels by having class teams? The field is large—at present we could have class basketball teams, later baseball and track relay teams could be organized. If this is done, nothing but benefit could come to the school, the class, and the individual. Much needed exercise and development would come to the individual, and perhaps this training would be the means of discovering material for University teams of the future. Classes, through their officers, should back this project as a means of maintaining class spirit; members, especially day students, should come out and make it a success.

STUDIO SLAVE SAYS:

I wish somebody would SUPPRESS the exams.

It is surprising how much class attendance has picked up the last few days.

Someone is always asking me: "Well, old man, all set for the exams, I suppose." The answer can't be printed.

Fond mother to young son: "My boy, you must not shoot craps, for life is just as precious to the little craps as it is to us."

Dear Mr. Stephan: Where did the old quotation, "My kingdom for a horse," come from? Letty.

Dear Letty: I don't remember; but I have heard a lot of fellows say lately that they would give five bucks for a good "pony" for next week. S. S.

Dear Stupe: I have an awful cold in the head, and since they have stopped making it, I don't know of any good remedies. S. O. L.

Dear S. O. L.: Take a mouthful of water, but don't swallow it. Sit on the stove till the water boils, and inhale the steam. This usually affords instant relief. AT LEAST you won't be cold.

Dear Stupe: I suppose your folks will be all unstrung when they hear of the result of your exams? Foo Lish.

Dear Foo Lish: No, they won't; I wired them last night.

Dear Stupe: Is it true that the electrical engineers are so well educated that they are conversant on all subjects? A. B. Dear A. B.:

Yes; they are "live wires." You see, to take that course you must keep in touch with all CURRENT subjects.

I know a professor who is so absent-minded he poured syrup down his neck and scratched his pancake.

SELECTS GIRL DEBATERS.

Prof. Collier, of the Law School, has announced the selection of the following as members of the girls' debating teams: Kathleen Duggan, Katherine Gale and Sarah Tilghman, with Stella Randolph as alternate, to debate against Ohio Wesleyan here, and against Swarthmore at Swarthmore. The other team is composed of Mildred Belt, Louise Foster and Filimora Wilgus, with Mildred Wilgus as alternate, and will debate against Oberlin and West Virginia.

MUST RETURN PROOFS AT ONCE.

Clinedinst Studio, through Karl Peterson, editor of the Cherry Tree, reports many proofs have not been called for at the studio, while others have been taken out and not returned. It is important that this matter be attended to at once, as no photographs will be published in the Cherry Tree unless left at the studio with instructions from owners.

The circulation manager needs the services of one student from each department of the University. Persons interested may apply to Kirk Mears.

LAMBDA PHI MU MEDICAL FRAT GRANTS CHARTER

History of Oldest Medical Honor Society Related; Founded in 1701.

With the establishment at George Washington University of a chapter of Lambda Phi Mu, international medical fraternity, a new honor has been added to those located here. Lambda Phi Mu is the oldest of all medical fraternities and has chapters at the largest and most famous universities throughout the world. The George Washington chapter is to be installed during this month.

Prof. C. F. Maraldi, of the Medical School, outlines the history of the fraternity as follows: The organization was established in 1701 at Bologna University by Prof. Giovanni Battista Morgagni under the name "Circolo d'Amicizia di Studenti in Medicina," and had for its object the presentation and reading of papers on the new scientific researches and discoveries of the time. Later, in the year 1715, other chapters were opened throughout Italy (Padua, Rome, etc.), and in order to honor its founder the name of the organization was changed to "Fraternita di Morgagni per Studenti in Medicina." Early in the twentieth century the fraternity adopted the Greek letters Lambda Phi Mu and opened chapters at L'Ecole de Medicine de Paris and at Die Medizinische Facultat an der Universitat Berlin, the Greek letters being adopted in order to internationalize the fraternity.

The mother chapter of Lambda Phi Mu in America is located at Cornell University and as yet but few universities in America have been honored by the establishment of chapters of the fraternity.

HATCHET TANKMEN PREPARE FOR SEASON

Manager Young Hopes to Acquire More Funds for Team.

Hatchette fish have a very enviable record to uphold this year, as they went through last season without a defeat, and are looking toward another successful aquatic season.

With Dalquist, MacEwen, Stokes and Maitland and Cary back from last year's crack team and with a number of promising swimmers from the local high schools, an extremely speedy team is expected.

Manager Young hopes to secure a larger sum of money than has been allotted to this sport, as he estimates it will take about twice as much as has been allowed by the student activities. Meets are being arranged with some of the strongest teams in the country, and the tank sport should boom this year.

JUNIOR TEACHERS HOLD "GET TOGETHER" PARTY

Unanimously Adopt Constitution; Next Meeting February 6.

The Juniors of the Teachers College held a "get together" party in the W. U. C. rooms Tuesday evening, January 10. A constitution written by Betty Kendrick was unanimously adopted.

Maybelle Bennett and Betty Kendrick arranged some clever stunts for the evening's entertainment, one being an impersonation of the latest school trick commonly known as dramatization.

Miss Helen Ross must have known just what a hungry crowd would like, for she made a most delicious salad, which was served in liberal portions with wafers and tea.

The Juniors of the Teachers College will hold their next meeting Monday, February 6, at 7 p. m., in the chapel.

TO SPEAK TO LEGAL CLUB.

Mrs. Helen H. Gardiner, U. S. Civil Service Commissioner, will speak to the members of the Women's Legal Club on the first Monday night in February on the legal positions for women in the departments of the United States Government. Refreshments will be served.

HATCHETITES WINNING STREAK BROKEN

Play was fast and furious during the last twenty minute interval, good basketball being shown by both teams.

An interesting angle to the play of the quints which shows their relative strength is to be found in the relative accuracy of the two teams. George Washington shot at the basket 22 times, most of them being long shots, and caged 3 baskets, for 13 per cent accuracy. Georgetown tried 54 times to count from the floor, being successful 10 times for an average of 18 per cent, showing a trifle edge in accuracy. These statistics also show the Hilltoppers played a better floor game, getting for themselves more chances at the hoop.

Gate receipts indicated 3,500 persons witnessed the fray. As big a crowd is expected by the management at the Catholic University game tonight. Line-up:

JOURNALISM CLASS BREAKS INTO PRINT

Furnish Material for Page in Sunday
Edition of Washington Herald.

Breaking into print is the thrill that comes once into the life of every young journalist. To see one's "stuff" in cold type for the first time does not fall far short of the acme of self-satisfaction. Mr. Chace's class in journalism has just experienced this altogether pleasant sensation. A full page in last Sunday's edition of the Washington Herald marks the entry of this group of young writers into the world of news and the diversity of the material offered indicates development of the writing knack along distinctly individual lines.

Catering most perhaps to the demand for human interest study, the students' page presents a number of short accounts of people and things that tug at the heartstrings or tickle the funny bone of the reader. There is a poem of real merit on the Unknown Dead, a cartoon depicting the entry of the embryo journalists into print, and an editorial on American jazz based on the statement by the president of a musical association that jazz is the genesis of American musical expression in which, as the writer states, there is considerable food for thought. The humor column bears the wholly modern and refreshing title, "Some Merry Peals from Dumb Bells."

At least one of the vicissitudes of newspaper making falls to the lot of two of the writers with the initial appearance of their work in print. Through some printer's trick or fate the story of the young men's shopping expedition for a girl's fan in an exclusive store runs abruptly into the concluding paragraphs of the account of the small boy upsetting a fruit vendor's cart in the market district. Likewise, the fruit cart story ends with the clever saleslady deciding for the boys by manipulating the plumed instrument of vanity and luxury in "fashion's most approved manner." No advocate of absolute democracy could desire more.

The editorial staff for the page comprised Mrs. M. V. Woodley, George Bond Cochran, Edwin R. Trusheim, Lillian P. Farnham, Debbye Jean Wright, Grace M. Womersley, Gladys E. Phoebus and a group of department editors and other contributors.

Publication of the work of the class in journalism in local papers when opportunity presents is one of Mr. Chace's aims in conducting the class, and on two occasions during last term a page of space in the Herald was secured and filled with contributions from the members, as in the present case.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY TO GIVE DANCE IN MARCH

The largest meeting of the Engineering Society so far this year was held last Thursday night, January 12, when Dr. Dantzig, research engineer for the S. K. F. Industries, Inc., delivered a lecture on the Construction and Uses of Ball Bearings.

A dance committee, composed of J. C. McNab and M. J. Bussard, was named to plan a dance to be given in March.

COLUMBIAN SOCIETY TO POSTPONE DEBATE

The Columbian Debating Society at its last meeting decided to postpone the weekly meeting for the weeks of Friday the 20th and 27th on account of examinations, and the next meeting will be February 23. The subject for debate at this meeting will be: "Resolved, That the United States Should Cancel the War Debts of the Allies." The speakers will be announced later.

The president urges every member to have his picture taken at the earliest possible date for the Cherry Tree, as only a few days are left in which to turn them in for engraving. The election of officers will be February 10 at 8 o'clock.

DAYS WHEN LIFE'S CUP OF HAPPINESS IS FULL TO THE BRIM

Dream Years Soon Left Behind; Six
Reasons for Getting Yearbook;
Must Order Before March 1.

The flushed, happy expressions on the college girls' faces at the prom tell a most eloquent story of the days of youth, the days of romance, the days of popularity, and the joy of being the center of admiration, the pleasure of all pleasures, the pleasure of having many good friends.

How quickly these days vanish before college men and women realize it. These dream years are left behind and their activities claim them in their own home town. What a contrast is the monotonous life of the town or village as compared with the teeming enthusiastic crowds at college? What a pleasure it is to turn to your college annual and have spread before you the days that were chuck full of joys, the days of romance, the days when life's cup of happiness was full to the brim.

You will appreciate more than ever your college yearbook. You will turn to it many times because it is the only perfect reminder of the past days of your life that you took back home with you.

Why You Should Own Annual.

1. It is your school history.
2. It is your college yearbook and your history in text and picture.
3. It portrays in a faithful, true-to-life manner every phase of the University activities.
4. It will be your choicest possession after leaving school.
5. It will show the folks at home what the school is accomplishing and cause many a young friend who examines the book to come to this college eventually for their education.
6. There will be only as many books made as have been paid for in advance. There will be practically no opportunity of getting this book after March 1.

Be sure to make definite plans to get yours before that time.

MEDICAL SOCIETY TO MEET.

The next meeting of the George Washington University Medical Society will be held on January 21, 1922, at the George Washington University Medical School, in Hall No. 1, at 8 p. m. The program will consist of a symposium on anaesthesia by Drs. J. B. Bogan, Chas. W. Hyde, C. N. Chipman, Paul S. Putzki. Discussion will be opened by Dr. Thomas F. Lowe, an invited guest. The report on a case will be given by Dr. Harry Bernton. A smoker will follow the scientific program.

FREE PROM TICKET FOR BEST POSTER

Contest Part of Publicity Plan For University Junior Week.

Here lies A. Chance. To ye who breathe, the soul of an artist is this gold-studded opportunity dedicated, for today marks the beginning of a contest between the fancy pen pushers of George Washington to turn out the best looking poster for the Junior Prom. The winner of this contest receives a free ticket to the prom and will have a hundred copies of his poster printed for distribution throughout the city.

Realizing the necessity of adequate publicity for the prom, to be staged at Rauscher's on February 23, the publicity committee is desirous of securing a suitable poster by which to advertise the event. Naturally the idea of launching a contest was hit upon as a measure which will undoubtedly reveal the necessary talent, and also evoke keen interest and competition among those vying for the honors. All students of the University are eligible to compete. The drawings must be in ink and of such shape and size as to be suitable for 15 by 20 inch posters. All competitors must intern their specimens to The Hatchet office not later than Saturday, February 4. Shortly thereafter the winner will be announced by Walter Free, chairman of the publicity committee. This committee will have charge of the awards, but will solicit professional aid in judging the drawings.

GIRLS' SECOND TEAM BEATEN.

The second team of the girl basketballers paid the Y. W. C. A. team of Baltimore a visit over the week-end, and Saturday night played them a hard-fought game, in which, after a strenuous struggle, the Baltimoreans were victors, with a 39 to 8 score.

MEN DEBATERS CHOSEN FOR INTERCOLLEGIATE

Two of Six Picked Are Columbian College Freshmen; First Debate Scheduled for March 24.

Perhaps the best examples of oratory George Washington has had for some time was displayed at the men's debate try-outs Wednesday, January 11. This was the final elimination contest to choose the six men and two alternates for the intercollegiate debates this year.

The speeches were a great deal better than those given at the former try-out, and, needless to say, the judges witnessed a hotly contested debate. By the time the rebuttals were given, some of the debaters had worked up such a fighting spirit that their arguments almost bordered on the unreasonable. It was said that the negative speakers took advantage of the affirmative by firing a long list of questions at them, attempting to embarrass those who had memorized speeches. Whether the questions were satisfactorily answered or not was quite a question itself, and the negative, at least, made considerable capital of the affirmative's alleged failure to answer. The judges of the debate were members of the Law School faculty, Gilbert L. Hall, A. B., LL. B.; W. C. Van Vleck, A. B., LL. B.; and C. S. Collier, A. B., LL. B. Undoubtedly it was not an easy matter to make the decision, but this is the line-up as they decided. The names are given in order of their seniority of class:

Our standby with the longest record is Harry Perlman, A. B., Law '22. He has made G. W. team four years in succession, and naturally contributed a great deal to last year's success.

Another strong member of last year's debating team is Leslie Jackson, Law '22. He has had two years' experience in debating at the University of Texas as well as two years of high school debating.

Warren Maxwell has not been on the G. W. team before, but his ability is known, as he was on the Catholic University team which debated G. W. in 1916. He won an oratorical prize during his first year at C. U.

Edward Scheffler, A. B., Law '24, makes use of a great deal of powerful oratory which dramatically calms down to important points. He has had four years of debating experience in District of Columbia high schools and was, incidentally, the only Columbian College man to make the preliminary try-outs last year.

Oscar Zabel is a new man, a freshman in Columbian College. He was captain of the Spokane High School debating team in '19, as well as being selected by unanimous vote as class orator of the class of '20.

John Gilliland is also a new man and a freshman at Columbian College.

The alternates are George Hughes and Michael Mussman. Hughes is a Law '22 man who can point to two successful years on the Palestine High School debating team in Texas. Mussman, A. B., Law '21, is well known in the University for his ability to coin phrases on the spur of the moment.

The first debate is set for March 24, on the sales tax question. One team debates at home while the other, of course, meets the opposite team of the opponents the same day on the "enemies' grounds." George Washington won from both Swarthmore and West Virginia last year. It is expected that with the aid of one of the best coaches and real hard work of one of the strongest teams G. W. has had, a name for the school in debating will be established.

The line-up follows:
Affirmative: Jackson, (leader), Zabel and Scheffler.
Negative: Perlman (leader), Maxwell, Gilliland.

FRESHMAN LAW CLASS MIXER GREAT SUCCESS

"The freshman class of the Law School has arrived," Elinor Louis Kayser, secretary of the University, congratulated the law frosh on their success in a speech at their mixer on Monday night last. Other speakers of the evening were Edward L. Schufler, president of the class; Jos. A. Jordan, new secretary of the Law School; Chas. Sager Collier and H. G. Spaulding, professors of law at the Law School.

But the dancing was the thing of the evening. The short and snappy speeches quickly gave away to the call of the saxo. Even the thought of the pictures taken for the Cherry Tree, already out for sale, could not stop the dancers.

STUDENT FRIENDSHIP FEDERATION SENDS PLEA

$160,000 Needed to Fulfill Pledge for Relief Work in Eastern Europe.

"Can it be that we are tired of hearing that people are dependent upon us for life?" This is the question put by the World's Student Christian Federation to the American student body of the eastern area, who had, at the latest report, pledged only $40,000 of the $200,000 needed from them by the federation in order that the relief work in central and eastern Europe may be carried on.

The total amount needed for the work is one-half million dollars, of which two-fifths is the share of the eastern area, which has more educational institutions than any other section of the country. The money is to be subscribed by students in the schools and colleges and will insure the necessities of life to 72,000 of their fellow students across the seas and will enable 300,000 more to continue their studies throughout the winter.

Frank Olmstead, eastern area executive, in a communication to George Washington University, says that with the new year the situation is becoming more hopeful, and a new appreciation is being shown of this movement, which, in 38 countries, is binding together the hearts of those who are some day to be the rulers of those countries.

Send your contribution to the Student Friendship Fund, 129 East Fifty-second Street, New York City.

NAME GIRL SWIMMERS

Girl swimmers are making rapid progress in practices, at which various strokes and dives are executed with all the finer points of swimming technique emphasized.

Extensive plans are under way for the year, including interclass meets, Red Cross life saving tests, exhibitions, and entrance into the South Atlantic championship meets.

Nine girls, aside from the officers, have been selected for the team. They are Jacqueline French, Catharine Hough, Louise Strother, Carrie Robertson, Gladys Fuller, Florence Maitland, Winifred Hull, Portia Clifford, and Louise Birch.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

The engagement of Lillian Smith to Bernard Burdick has been announced. Both Miss Smith and Mr. Burdick have been very active in class affairs and in the general activities of the school.

DEANS EXPRESS APPROVAL AND SUPPORT HONOR PLAN

therefore understood by the students, which would have made any steps in the cases not only inexpedient but unjust.

President Hodgkins, like the deans, considers the preservation of student integrity more a matter for the students than for the faculty. "The honor constitution has many very desirable features," he said, "and will go into effect after a few alterations."
